Employee Rights During an ICE Visit

☑ Employees May:

- Remain Silent: They are not required to answer questions about immigration status, birthplace, or entry into the U.S.
- Refuse to Show Documents: They may decline to show ID that reveals nationality or citizenship.
- Stay Put: If asked to group by immigration status, they may refuse or move to a neutral area.
- Request an Attorney: They may ask to speak with legal counsel before answering questions.

❌ Employees Are Not Required To:

- Speak to ICE agents.
- Show documents without a warrant.
- Move into designated groups based on status.

If Detained:

- Families are contacted.
- Owed wages are paid.
